Handbook of Mediators in Septic Shock Edmund A. Neugebauer, 2019-07-23 Handbook of Mediators in Septic Shock presents a comprehensive systematic evaluation of the various putative mediators of septic shock through the use of meta analysis Experts of individual mediators have objectively evaluated the collective literature using classical Koch Dale Criteria for causal relationships A decision tree approach has been used to analyze the existing evidence for each of the four Koch Dale Criteria for each individual mediator of septic shock The book provides an integrated perspective that describes how these many mediators interact It also covers how advances in mathematical modeling of complex realities are applied to the field of septic shock pathogenesis CRC Handbook of Mediators in Septic Shock will be a useful reference for emergency room and intensive care physicians trauma specialists pathophysiologists physiologists biochemists pharmacologists and others interested in the topic Features Serotonin and Microcirculation R. Nonadrenergic Innervation of Blood Vessels Geoffrey Burnstock, Susan G. Griffith, 2019-06-04 First Published in 1988 this book offers a full comprehensive guide into the functions and treatment of the Blood Vessels Carefully compiled and filled with a vast repertoire of notes diagrams and references this book serves as a useful reference for Students of Medicine and other practitioners in their respective fields Primary Hypertension Werner Kaufmann, Gerd Bönner, Robert Lang, Karl A. Meurer, 2012-12-06

Some of the leading scientists in the field of hypertension accepted an invitation to actively participate in an international symposium on primary hypertension Scientists from 13 countries from western southern and eastern Europe Australia and the United States were present The meeting was held in Cologne in March 1985 After previous meetings and workshops at Titisee in the Black Forest and several symposia on the renin angiotensin aldosterone system here in Cologne this symposium on primary hypertension was organized in order to induce and to stimulate critical discussion on the basic pathogenetic mechanisms involved and the recently established therapeutic implications Numerous studies have been based on the concept that the elevation in blood pressure is mediated by several vasopressor substances For this reason the renin angiotensin system has been considered to be the essential endocrine mechanism involved in developing and sustaining arterial hypertension Other vasopressor factors such as catecholamines vasopressin and serotonin have been studied extensively and were assumed to play additional parts in blood pressure regulation However several other approaches have been initiated in recent years Serotonin and Microcirculation Robert S. Reneman, Alfred

Schultz, Michael Field, Raymond A. Frizzell, Brenda B. Rauner, American Physiological Society (1887-), 1991 Here is a thorough up to date survey of the physiological processes through which salt water and nutrients are absorbed or secreted by the intestinal tract and of how these myriad processes are regulated In twenty five chapters written by a team of leading experts the volume addresses four main topics the methodologies and basic principles of structure and function intestinal ion transport nutrient absorption and macromolecular transport Throughout the contributors emphasize recent developments in the field for example neuroendocrine immune cell interactions in the intestinal mucosa the regulation of intestinal sodium transport the cloning of the intestinal glucose carrier the intestinal cytoskeleton and the regulation of intestinal epithelial transport function by protein kinases and calmodulin This is not only the fourth and final volume in the series it is also the broadest most contemporary approach to this important topic As such this book will be warmly welcomed and often consulted by student scholars professionals and anyone researching intestinal absorptive mechanisms and their regulation
