Children's Literature Pat Pinsent, 2016-04-08 This invaluable Guide surveys the key critical works and debates in the vibrant field of children's literature since its inception. Leading expert Pat Pinsent combines a chronological overview of developments in the genre with analysis of key theorists and theories and subject-specific methodologies.

Some issues include separately paged sections: Better management, Physical theatre, extra profits, Review, Servisection. Maximum Rocknroll, 2003. Library Literature & Information Science, 2001. An index to library and information science literature. The United States Catalog, 1906. The Annual American Catalogue 1886-1900, 1895. Canadian Bookman, 1924. Love and Toil Ellen Ross, 1993. The feisty, warm-hearted mum has long figured as a symbol of the working class in Britain, yet working class history has emphasized male organizations such as clubs, unions, or political parties. Investigating a different dimension of social history, Love and Toil focuses on motherhood among the London poor in the late Victorian and Edwardian years and on the cultures, communities, and ties with husbands and children that women created. Mothers' skills in managing the family budget, earning income, and caring for their children were critical in protecting households from the worst hardships of industrial capitalism, yet poverty or the threat of it molded intimate relationships and left its imprint on personalities. This book is also a case study demonstrating the larger argument that the concept of motherhood is more socially and historically constructed than biologically determined. Shaky household economics, pressure toward respectability, the close proximity of neighbors, the precariousness of infant and child life, and little chance of better lives for their children shaped the work and emotions of motherhood much more than did the biological experiences of pregnancy, birth, and lactation. This beautifully written book, embellished with Cockney slang and music hall songs, addresses fascinating questions in the fields of women's studies, labor history, social policy, and family history.
