Community Care for Homeless Families Ellen L. Bassuk,1990 Community Care for Homeless Families Better Homes Foundation,1990 The Hidden America Robert M. Moore,2001 Moore dispels the myths that rural life does not contain urban problems such as poor parenting and substance abuse while its economy depends on farming or mineral extraction The realities and recent changes in rural life mean that social services must adapt to the needs of the rural communities Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.),1992 First multi year cumulation covers six years 1965 70 Children Living in Temporary Shelters Alice M. Epps,2014-02-25 First published in 1998 The problem of homelessness is increasing nationally in volume variety and visibility with the subpopulation of homeless families with children growing the fastest An unstable living environment places these families especially the children at risk of accomplishing positive adaptive socialization In addition the provision of supportive services to these children impose an excessive economic burden on the public The paucity of information and research concerning what homelessness means for children who are members of these families are reasons for undertaking this work The book provides a survey research model to collect and analyze information about what the circumstances of homelessness means from the perspective of children sheltered with homeless families Mental Health, Racism And Sexism Charles V Willie,2016-01-28 Following their book Racism and Mental Health the authors here re examine the intersections of racism and mental health adding sexism as another divisive issue that profoundly affects mental health The book aims to offer fresh perspectives on contemporary controversial issues including interracial adoptions teenage motherhood gender bias in mental health diagnosis and therapy prisons used as substitutes for hospitals homeless families and increasing violence in the home and on the streets The ... Annual Report of the Interagency Council on the Homeless United States. Interagency Council on the Homeless,1992 MEDOC ,1991 Index of U S government literature on health statistics and research information and health care delivery and education material for the lay public Reading and Writing Short Arguments William Vesterman,1997 With 71 selections this brief text reader offers a clear and concise introduction to argument and an exceptionally broad range of short arguments on contemporary issues National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.),1992 The Family Unification Program Debra J. Rog,Ariana M. Gilbert-Mongelli,Ezell Lundy,1998 In 1990 Congress authorized the Family Unification Program FUP in an effort to reunify children with their parents and to prevent out of home placement of children by providing timely housing assistance coordinated with child welfare services This final evaluation report examines the design and implementation of FUP the background and characteristics of the families served and the status of those families one year after they were accepted into the program Hopes, Dreams & Promise Ralph DaCosta Nunez,1994 The New Poverty Ralph Da Costa Nunez,1996-03-21 However if they are deprived of these opportunities another generation of children will grow up without homes and without the traditional values of work responsibility and independence      Treatment of the Chemically Dependent Homeless Kendon J. Conrad, Cheryl I. Hultman, J.S Lyons, 1995 Theory and Implementation in Fourteen American Projects      Community Child Health Jean C. Fahey, John G. Heilman, Judith S. Palfrey, Sean Palfrey, 1995-10-30 Community Child Health is designed to orient physicians nurses social workers public health officers and allied professionals to the world of children and to help them devise practice styles and priorities in concert with the current needs of children Palfrey s central thesis is that society has lost sight of children and as a result we have done a very poor job of structuring the environment to nurture them as they grow Ironically communities are breaking apart just at the time when families need them the most leaving children vulnerable confused and isolated The health consequences include poor school performance behavioral problems injuries early sexuality drug and alcohol use weapons possession homicide and suicide The medical professions can have a major impact in reversing these social and health problems Palfrey has designed this book to equip such professionals with the conceptual frame data base and practical tips and tools that will result in improved results in the growth and development of children It is an advocate s manual a cookbook for the program planner and a guide for the child health professional seeking improvements in community child care      No Way Out ,1993      Addressing Community Problems Ximena B. Arriaga, Stuart Oskamp, 1998-07-23 Problems in community life are among the most distressing and troublesome aspects of our modern society yet psychology as a field has given them relatively little attention The great bulk of psychological practice and research is directed at individual psychological problems and the difficulties in dyadic relationships However community problems arguably are broader and more important because to a large degree they affect us all young and old rich and poor male and female and majority and minority group members In this new volume from the Claremont Symposium on Applied Social Psychology contributors examine one or more pressing community problems homelessness racism delinquency alcoholism violence unemployment workplace health from a social psychological perspective as well as a clinical one The contributors all leaders in their fields then present the results of their empirical research An ideal supplement for courses in community psychology Addressing Community Problems is ideal for academics and students in the fields of social psychology clinical and counseling psychology social work gender studies sociology and public health      Moving to Nowhere Mary E. Walsh, 1992-03-30 The number of homeless families in the United States continues to increase at an alarming rate There is little doubt that becoming homeless and living in shelters has had significant effects on the lives of the children in these families While many empirical studies have documented the effects of homelessness on one or another aspect of children s lives Moving To Nowhere looks at the experience of losing one s home and living in a shelter from the perspective of the child Children who are homeless tell their own story They speak of life in a shelter as they have known it It is through these stories that human service professionals can come to see homelessness as the children themselves see it and can learn what living in a shelter is like Children who are homeless tell their own story They describe how they became homeless why they think it happened to their family what their expectations and concerns were as they realized they would be moving to a shelter and what the shelter was like when they arrived They speak often of missing their old neighborhoods their friends and their extended family They report their fears their worries about their family s future the absence of money and resources and for some the presence of violence or substance abuse in their families They repeatedly tell of their embarrassment about being homeless this profoundly colors their relationships to friends schoolmates and teachers And in each of their stories these children provide clear and moving examples of how they manage to survive on a day to day basis while they wait for permanent housing Health care professionals psychologists and teachers as well as students and the general public will find this work poignant and instructive

Developmental Follow-up Sarah L. Friedman,H. Carl Haywood,1994 Provides a theoretical and methodological exploration of longitudinal studies on child development Topics covered include theoretical perspectives sources of data experimental design and data analysis

American Homelessness Mary Ellen Hombs,1994 This book examines who the homeless are how they became homeless and how agencies can help alleviate the problem
