Reed,2016-12-21 Excerpt from Bird Guide Land Birds East of the Rockies From Parrots to Bluebirds There are parts that each one of us can play in lessening the unnatural dangers that lurk along a bird's path in life Individually our efforts may amount to but little perhaps the saving of the lives of two or three or more birds during the year but collectively our efforts will soon be felt in the bird world How Can We Protect the Birds Nearly all states have fairly good game laws which if they could be enforced would properly protect our birds from man but they cannot be if our boys and girls are educated to realize the economic value of the birds and are encouraged to study their habits the desire to shoot them or to rob them of their eggs will be very materially lessened It is a common practice for some farmers to burn their land over in the Spring usually about nesting time Three years ago and as far back of that as I can remember a small ravine or valley was teeming with bird life it was the most favored spot that I know of for the variety and numbers of its bird tenants Last year towards the end of May this place was deliberately burned over by the owner Twenty seven nests that I know of some with young others with eggs and still others in the process of construction were destroyed besides hundreds of others that I had never seen This year the same thing was done earlier in the season and not a bird nested here and late in Summer only a few clumps of ferns have found courage to appear above the blackened ground Farmers also cut off a great many patches of underbrush that might just as well have been left thus for lack of suitable places for their homes driving away some of their most valuable assistants The cutting off of woods and forests is an important factor in the decrease of bird life as well as upon the climate of the country About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works The Visitor ,1918 Bird Guide Chester A. Reed,2015-08-17 The lengths given are averages our small birds often vary considerably and may be found either slightly larger or smaller than those quoted On some of the pages a number of sub species are mentioned Sub species often cause confusion because they are usually very similar to the original they can best be identified by the locality in which they are found Of course the writing of birds songs is an impossibility but wherever I Western Bird Guide: Birds Of The Rockies And West To The Pacific Charles K.
