Companion Pieces:

Structure in Milton's Poetry Ralph W. Condee, 1991-02-07 Milton's skill in constructing poems whose structure is determined not by rule or precedent but by the thought to be expressed is one of his chief accomplishments as a creative artist. Professor Condee analyzes seventeen of Milton's poems, both early and late, well and badly organized, in order to trace the poet's developing ability to create increasingly complex poetic structures. Three aspects of Milton's use of poetic structure are stressed: the relation of the parts to the whole and parts to parts; his ability to unite actual events with the poetic situation; and his use and variation of literary tradition to establish the desired structural unity. *Catalogue of the Collection of American and Foreign Coins and Medals, Ancient and Modern, Formerly the Property of Mr. A. Early Cycladic Sculpture in Context from beyond the Cyclades Marisa Marthari, Colin Renfrew, Michael J. Boyd, 2019-12-31 This second volume on Early Cycladic and Cycladicising sculptures found in the Aegean examines finds from mainland Greece along with the rarer items from the north and east Aegean with the exception of those discovered in the Cyclades covered in the preceding volume and of those found in Crete. The significance of these finds is that these are the principal testimonies of the influence of the Early Bronze Age Cycladic cultures in the wider Aegean. This influence is shown both by the export of sculptures produced in the Cyclades and made of Cycladic marble and of their imitations produced elsewhere in the Aegean, usually of local marble. They hold the key therefore to the cultural interactions developing at this time, the so-called international spirit manifest particularly during the Aegean Early Bronze II period. This was the time when the foundations of early Aegean civilisation were being laid and the material documented is thus of considerable significance. The volume is divided into sections wherein contributions examine finds and their archaeological, social, and economic contexts from specific regions. It concludes with an overview of the significance and role of these objects in Early Bronze Age societies of the Aegean and eastern Mediterranean region. This will be the first time that this material has been systematically gathered together. Highly illustrated, it follows and builds on the successful preceding volume Early Cycladic Sculpture in Context Oxbow 2016

Refractions Frauke Reitemeier, 2022 Put simply, refraction describes a change in the direction of light or sound due to a change in the medium the light or sound goes through. Writing a Bachelor's or Master's thesis means changing the direction of light shed on a particular text or topic as the theses collected in this volume conclusively show. A dystopian novel is shown to hinge on questions of animal rights; a complex novelistic structure is revealed to have its origins in scientific discourses; a clearly Gothic novel has its foundation in aesthetic Christianity; to outline just some of the topics. All these papers have in common that they take a well-known text or idea and change the angle through which it is read and analysed, and suddenly a rainbow of new insights is created.
