The Black Female Body in American Literature and Art Caroline Brown, 2013-02-28 This book examines how African American writers and visual artists interweave icon and inscription in order to re present the black female body traditionally rendered alien and inarticulate within Western discursive and visual systems Brown considers how the writings of Toni Morrison Gayl Jones Paule Marshall Edwidge Danticat Jamaica Kincaid Andrea Lee Gloria Naylor and Martha Southgate are bound to such contemporary postmodern visual artists as Lorna Simpson Carrie Mae Weems Kara Walker Betye Saar and Faith Ringgold While the artists and authors rely on radically different media photos collage video and assembled objects as opposed to words and rhythm both sets of intellectual activists insist on the primacy of the black aesthetic Both assert artistic agency and cultural continuity in the face of the oppression social transformation and cultural multiplicity of the late twentieth and early twenty first centuries This book examines how African American performative practices mediate the tension between the ostensibly de racialized body politic and the hyper racialized black female body reimagining the cultural and political ground that guides various articulations of American national belonging Brown shows how and why black women writers and artists matter as agents of change how and why the form and content of their works must be recognized and reconsidered in the increasingly frenzied arena of cultural production and political debate

Palmer,2007 Michigan State University Press ProQuest Schomburg Center for Research in Black Culture and The New York Public Library are pleased to present a unique research study and teaching resource for professors and students of Black Studies the Schomburg Studies on the Black Experience SSBE In the more than thirty five years since the field of Black Studies established its presence in American higher education the volume of research writing and publications on the global black experience has increased exponentially Scholars in African American and African Diasporan studies have contributed in significant ways to the development of this new knowledge. So have scholars in mainstream disciplines in the United States and Europe as well as scholars and intellectuals in Africa and throughout the Americas. When added to the extraordinary volume of research resources on the black experience that existed before the coming of Black Studies, the challenge of selecting appropriate materials for research, for study, and for teaching has become extremely difficult. Schomburg Studies on the Black Experience is a resource designed to assist users in making such choices. Both the electronic and the printed editions of Schomburg Studies on the Black Experience contain a critical review essay for each theme, a selection of essential readings, and research questions for the future. Extensive bibliographies, lists of primary research materials, timelines, and other resources are also included. There is also a multimedia library and links to related websites included in the on-line edition. Schomburg Studies on the Black Experience offers users a way to understand the evolution of scholarship on the selected themes and to access the essential literature that supports it. Schomburg Studies affirms both the quantity and the quality of the intellectual underpinnings of Black Studies. As part of this collaboration, Michigan State University Press offers the second volume of the book series format that works as a teaching tool with or independently of the database. 30 Americans Rubell Family Collection, Franklin Sirmans, 2008. Text by Franklin Sirmans, Glenn Ligon, Robert Hobbs, Michele Wallace. African American Visual Arts Celeste-Marie Bernier, 2008. African American Visual Arts From Slavery to the Present. The 1980s Maurice Berger, 2007. In his introduction to The 1980s, an Internet Conference moderator, Maurice Berger writes: As Fredric Jameson reminds us in his essay, "Periodizing the 1960s," decades are never neat, clearly defined episodes. Their boundaries are porous, their roots long, their implications far-reaching, their stories a jumble of events that historical orthodoxy all too easily erases, overestimates, or devalues. For the purposes of this conference, then, The 1980s serves as an historical hook, a convenient means for focusing on a constellation of events, sensibilities, cultural objects, methodologies, and social movements that took form in the United States in the era roughly between the late 1970s and early 1990s. Contributors include Alexander Alberro, Max Becher, Dan Cameron, Mary Kelly, Wayne Koestenbaum, David A. Ross, Irving Sandler, Carolee Schneemann, Carol Squiers, Oliver Wasow, Linda Yablonsky, and others.

Battleground States Stephen Swanson, Michael Lupro, Sarah Tebbe, 2007. Stemming from an interdisciplinary conference sponsored by Culture Club, The Cultural Studies Scholars TM Association that included scholars from various disciplines and from around the world, this volume collects the work of graduate students and junior faculty which all examine the meaning of cultural scholarship in an ever-changing and increasingly global milieu. These voices, which often become marginalized and go unheard, represent what we see as the futures of interdisciplinary academic work in the humanities. The conference and this book are opportunities for scholars of diverse backgrounds and disciplines to come together and engage in a real dialogue with one another. Bringing disparate thoughts on politics, film, television, history, policy, and literature together, counters the pressures pushing individuals to take political, religious, scholarly, and ideological sides.

Through the efforts represented here we gain a distanced yet engaged view on the many threads that bind us together and the forces that seek to separate us Looking at this volume the reader encounters many different approaches from critical analysis of individual texts to autoethnography The contributors and compilers of this book do not place these in separate sections or in any hierarchy but rather wish that all of these appear on an equally vital level that displays the ways in which each of the subjects and approaches might open up a piece of culture in a way that draws attention to the connections between them all

Feminist Studies ,2005 Daughter of the Revolution Pauline Elizabeth Hopkins,2007 Pauline E Hopkins 1859 1930 came to prominence in the early years of the twentieth century as an outspoken writer editor and critic Frequently recognized for her first novel Contending Forces she is currently one of the most widely read and studied African American novelists from that period While nearly all of Hopkins s fiction remains in print there is very little of her nonfiction available This reader brings together dozens of her hard to find essays including longer nonfiction works such as Famous Men of the Negro Race and The Dark Races of the Twentieth Century some of which are published here for the first time in their entirety Through these works along with two juvenile essays from the 1870s a personal letter and two speeches readers encounter a voice that is committed to constructing an international discourse on race recovering the militant abolitionist tradition to combat Jim Crow celebrating black political participation during and after the Reconstruction era articulating the connections between race and labor and insisting on equal rights for women Hopkins s writing will challenge contemporary scholars to rethink their understanding of black activism and modernity in the early twentieth century
