The New Music Theodor W. Adorno, 2021-04-26 A year after the end of the Second World War the first International Summer Course for New Music took place in the Kranichstein Hunting Lodge near the city of Darmstadt in Germany The course commonly referred to later as the Darmstadt course was intended to familiarize young composers and musicians with the music that only a few years earlier had been denounced as degenerate by the Nazi regime and it soon developed into one of the most important events in contemporary music Having returned to Germany in 1949 from exile in the United States Adorno was a regular participant at Darmstadt from 1950 on In 1955 he gave a series of lectures on the young Schoenberg using the latter's work to illustrate the relation between tradition and the avant garde Adorno's three double length lectures on the young Schoenberg in which he spoke as a passionate advocate for the composer whom Boulez had declared dead were his first at Darmstadt to be recorded on tape The relation between tradition and the avant garde was the leitmotif of the lectures that followed which continued over the next decade Adorno also dealt in detail with problems of composition in contemporary music and he often accompanied his lectures with off the cuff musical improvisations The five lecture courses he gave at Darmstadt between 1955 and 1966 were all recorded and subsequently transcribed and they are published here for the first time in English This volume is a unique document on the theory and history of the New Music It will be of great value to anyone interested in the work of Adorno and critical theory in German intellectual and cultural history and in the history of modern music

New Music at Darmstadt Martin Iddon, 2013-04-18 New Music at Darmstadt explores the rise and fall of the so called Darmstadt School through a wealth of primary sources and analytical commentary Martin Iddon's book examines the creation of the Darmstadt New Music Courses and the slow development and subsequent collapse of the idea of the Darmstadt School showing how participants in the West German new music scene including Herbert Eimert and a range of journalistic commentators created an image of a coherent entity despite the very diverse range of compositional practices on display at the courses The book also explores the collapse of the seeming collegiality of the Darmstadt composers which crystallised around the arrival there in 1958 of the most famous and notorious of all post war composers John Cage an event Carl Dahlhaus opined swept across the European avant garde like a natural disaster

New Music, New Allies Amy C. Beal, 2006-07-04 New Music New Allies documents how American experimental music and its practitioners came to prominence in the West German cultural landscape between the end of the Second World War in 1945 and the reunification of East and West Germany in 1990 Beginning with the reeducation programs implemented by American military officers during the postwar occupation of West Germany and continuing through the cultural policies of the Cold War era this broad history chronicles German views on American music American composers pursuit of professional opportunities abroad and the unprecedented dissemination and support their music enjoyed through West German state subsidized radio stations new music festivals and international exchange programs Framing the biographies of prominent American composer
