Das Gefrorene Meer:

Cultural Impact in the German Context Rebecca Braun, Lyn Marven, 2010 Examines then employs the metaphor of cultural impact in an effort to understand how culture works in the German speaking world How to gauge the impact of cultural products is an old question but bureaucratic agendas such as the one recently implemented in the UK to measure the impact of university research including in German Studies are new Impact is seen as confirming a cultural product's value for society not least in the eyes of cultural funders Yet its use as an evaluative category has been widely criticized by academics Rather than rejecting the concept of impact however this volume employs it as a metaphor to reflect on issues of transmission reception and influence that have always underlain cultural production but have escaped systematic conceptualization It seeks to understand how culture works in the German speaking world how writers and artists express themselves how readers and audiences engage with the resulting products and how academics are drawn to analyze this dynamic process Formulating such questions afresh in the context of German Studies the volume examines both contemporary cultural discourse and the way it evolves more generally It links such topics as authorial intention readerly reception intertextuality and modes of perception to less commonly studied phenomena such as the institutional practices of funding bodies that underpin cultural discourse Contributors David Barnett Laura Bradley Rebecca Braun Sarah Colvin Anne Fuchs Katrin Kohl Karen Leeder Jürgen Luh Jenny McKay Ben Morgan Gunther Nickel Chloe Paver Joanne Sayner Matthew Philpotts Jane Wilkinson Rebecca Braun is Executive Dean of the College of Arts Social Sciences Celtic Studies at the National University of Ireland in Galway and Lyn Marven is Lecturer in German at the University of Liverpool

Canons and Wisdoms Albert Cook, 2016-11-11 In Canons and Wisdoms Albert Cook addresses what is arguable the most profound question about poetry and literature What is its human value Cook claims that the value lies in the special yield of wisdom rich full and not available in other forms of human discourse This somewhat traditional position is reinforced by the related arguments of such philosophers as Adorno and Heidegger and by other works in Renaissance poetry and modern poetry and fiction where the sense of the work becomes clearer when it is seen in the light of such a question Cook addresses what can be claimed for poetry and literature after all due allowance has been made for the relativity of canons the subjectivity of the literary experience and the subtle and comprehensive effects of received expectations Such questions have dominated recent discussions about the value of literature The nature of all human utterance argues for its being aimed at social inclusion formalized as a canon even though such a notion must remain ideal Canons and Wisdoms is an eloquent and original contribution to the ongoing debate about the canon It is the work of an experienced erudite and individualistic scholar working at the intersection of philosophy and literary theory and criticism

The Art of Memory Jewish Museum (New York, N.Y.), 1994 We have chosen to investigate the reasons why memorials have been built to look at whose memory is being honored and to examine the responses to these memorials The creation of an exhibition and the production of this book presented the opportunity for an analytic perspective In the process we have neither created another memorial nor have we solely explored the field of Holocaust art Rather we have attempted to reveal the nature of the creative process through the discussion of specific examples of a number of memorials and we have tried to understand their meaning and the reaction to them in the many places where they exist Preface
