Performance Guarantees in Communication Networks Cheng-Shang Chang, 2012-12-06 Providing performance guarantees is one of the most important issues for future telecommunication networks This book describes theoretical developments in performance guarantees for telecommunication networks from the last decade Written for the benefit of graduate students and scientists interested in telecommunications network performance this book consists of two parts The first introduces the recently developed filtering theory for providing deterministic hard guarantees such as bounded delay and queue length The filtering theory is developed under the min plus algebra where one replaces the usual addition with the min operator and the usual multiplication with the addition operator As in the classical linear system theory the filtering theory treats an arrival process or a departure process as a signal and a network element as a system Network elements including traffic regulators and servers can be modelled as linear filters under the min plus algebra and they can be joined by concatenation filter bank summation and feedback to form a composite network element The problem of providing deterministic guarantees is equivalent to finding the impulse response of composite network elements This section contains material on s r calculus Filtering theory for deterministic traffic regulation service guarantees and networks with variable length packets Traffic specification Networks with multiple inputs and outputs Constrained traffic regulation The second part of the book addresses stochastic soft guarantees focusing mainly on tail distributions of queue lengths and packet loss probabilities and contains material on s q r q calculus and q envelope rates The large deviation principle The theory of effective bandwidth The mathematical theory for stochastic guarantees is the theory of effective bandwidth Based on the large deviation principle the theory of effective bandwidth provides approximations for the bandwidths required to meet stochastic guarantees for both short range dependent inputs and long range dependent inputs
