Hand Papermaking, 2004      Reading, writing and the influence of Harold Bloom Alan Rawes, Jonathon Shears, 2024-07-30 Reading writing and the influence of Harold Bloom takes the work of the world's best known living literary critic and discovers what it is like to read with against and beyond his ideas The editors Alan Rawes and Jonathon Shears introduce the collection by assessing the impact of Bloom's brand of agonistic criticism on literary critics and its ongoing relevance to a discipline attempting to redefine and settle on its collective goals Firmly grounded in though not confined to Bloom's first specialism of Romantic Studies the volume contains essays that examine Bloom's debts to high Romanticism his quarrels with feminism his resistance to historicism the tensions with the Yale School and his recent work on Shakespeare and genius Crucially chapters are also devoted to putting Bloom's anxiety themed ratios into practice on the poetry of Wordsworth Shelley Keats and D H Lawrence amongst others The Harold Bloom that emerges from this collection is by turns divisive and unifying marginalised and central radical and conservative

Reading by Design Pauline Reid, 2019-04-08 Renaissance readers perceived the print book as both a thing and a medium a thing that could be broken or reassembled and a visual medium that had the power to reflect transform or deceive At the same historical moment that print books remediated the visual and material structures of manuscript and oral rhetoric the relationship between vision and perception was fundamentally called into question Investigating this crisis of perception Pauline Reid argues that the visual crisis that suffuses early modern English thought also imbricates sixteenth and seventeenth century print materials These vision troubles in turn influenced how early modern books and readers interacted Platonic Aristotelian and empirical models of sight vied with one another in a culture where vision had a tenuous relationship to external reality Through situating early modern books design elements such as woodcuts engravings page borders and layouts as important rhetorical components of the text Reading by Design articulates how the early modern book responded to epistemological crises of perception and competing theories of sight
