Darker Side Of The Renaissance:

The Darker Side of the Renaissance Walter Mignolo, 1995 Winner of the Modern Language Association's Katherine Singer Kovacs Prize The Darker Side of the Renaissance weaves together literature semiotics history historiography cartography geography and cultural theory to examine the role of language in the colonization of the New World Walter D Mignolo locates the privileging of European forms of literacy at the heart of New World colonization He examines how alphabetic writing is linked with the exercise of power what role the book has played in colonial relations and the many connections between writing social organization and political control It has long been acknowledged that Amerindians were at a disadvantage in facing European invaders because native cultures did not employ the same kind of texts hence knowledge that were validated by the Europeans Yet no study until this one has so thoroughly analyzed either the process or the implications of conquest and destruction through sign systems Starting with the contrasts between Amerindian and European writing systems Mignolo moves through such topics as the development of Spanish grammar the different understandings of the book as object and text principles of genre in history writing and an analysis of linguistic descriptions and mapping techniques in relation to the construction of territoriality and understandings of cultural space The Darker Side of the Renaissance will significantly challenge commonplace understandings of New World history More importantly it will continue to stimulate and provide models for new colonial and post colonial scholarship a contribution to Renaissance studies of the first order The field will have to reckon with it for years to come for it will unquestionably become the point of departure for discussion not only on the foundations and achievements of the Renaissance but also on the effects and influences on colonized cultures Journal of Hispanic Latino Theology Walter D Mignolo is Professor in the Department of Romance Studies and the Program in Literature Duke University

The Darker Side of Western Modernity Walter Mignolo, 2011-12-16 A new and more concrete understanding of the inseparability of colonialism and modernity that also explores how the rhetoric of modernity disguises the logic of coloniality and how this rhetoric has been instrumental in establishing capitalism as the econ

Encyclopaedism and Totality in Contemporary Fiction Kiron Ward, 2025-01-09 This book establishes a new approach to totality in contemporary fiction by looking critically at writers' engagements with the history of encyclopaedic thought and practice

Decolonial Theory and Biblical Unreading Stephen D. Moore, 2024-02-12 Postcolonial theory in the mode of Edward Said Gayatri Spivak and above all Homi Bhabha has long been a resource for biblical scholars concerned with empire and imperialism colonialism and neocolonialism Outside biblical studies however postcolonial theory is increasingly eclipsed by decolonial theory with its key concepts of the coloniality of power decoloniality and epistemic delinking Decolonial theory begs a radical reconception of the origins of critical biblical scholarship invites a delinking of biblical interpretation from the colonial matrix of power and provides resources for doing so as this book demonstrates through a decolonial unreading of the Gospel of Mark

Globalization and the Decolonial Option Walter D. Mignolo, Arturo Escobar, 2013-10-18 This is the first book in English profiling the work of a research collective that evolved around the notion of coloniality understood as the hidden agenda and the darker side of modernity and whose members are based in South America and the United States The project called for an understanding of modernity not from modernity itself but from its darker side coloniality and proposes the de colonization of knowledge as an epistemological restitution with political and ethical implications Epistemic decolonization or de coloniality becomes the horizon to imagine and act toward global futures in which the notion of a political enemy is replaced by intercultural communication and towards an other rationality that puts life first and that places institutions at its service rather than the other way around The volume is profoundly inter and trans disciplinary with authors writing from many intellectual transdisciplinary and institutional spaces This book was published as a special issue of Cultural Studies

Boys Abducted Abdulhamit Arvas,2025-03-14 In Boys Abducted Abdulhamit Arvas explores the history of abducted boys in English and Ottoman literary and visual culture to examine the relationships between homoeroticism race and empire in the early modern period The popular literary trope of the abducted beautiful boy often eroticized as an exotic object of desire intersects with the historical phenomenon of vulnerable youths who were captured and exchanged within the global traffic in bodies Arvas offers a queer historicist analysis of a wide array of Ottoman and English texts and genres ranging from poetry drama and travelogue to chronicles maps and visual arts He shows how the boy in these representations crosses boundaries between nations and empires embodying the tensions and dissonances between the aestheticized eroticism of literary and cultural representations and the violent history of abductions conversions and enslavements In so doing Arvas presents complex parallels and connections between the two societies highlighting the circulation of sexual and racial discourses in imperial imaginings to uncover discursive formations and formulations of sexuality race and empire

Islamic Scholarship in Africa Ousmane Kane,2021 Cutting edge research in the study of Islamic scholarship and its impact on the religious political economic and cultural history of Africa bridges the europhone non europhone knowledge divides to significantly advance decolonial thinking and extend the frontiers of social science research in Africa

Disinventions José Manuel Cortez,2025-09-09 US immigration policy along the southwestern border is deadly Since 1994 the US Border Patrol has implemented a federal immigration strategy known as prevention through deterrence which closed off many urban entry points along the US Mexico border and militarized urban border crossings This policy forced undocumented migrants to cross through dangerous terrain like the Sonoran Desert often with tragic results Immigrant advocates highlight migrant disappearances and deaths to expose the policy s human toll In Disinventions Jos Manuel Cortez argues this approach is unlikely to bring an end to such oppressive immigration practices Disinventions examines the cultural political and rhetorical effects of US deterrence practices exploring how discourse on immigration overlooks subjects who have always been a part of the borderlands but are rarely included in migration narratives He highlights the failings of decolonial methods and discourse to fully capture and represent marginalized voices including Black

Central American and queer subjects And he develops an ethics of unconditional hospitality embracing undocumented migrants By drawing on the concept of atopias and what he calls sites of disinvention to unearth new forms of politics Cortez suggests we can transcend the limits of decolonization discourse and humanize undocumented immigrants This challenging and engaging work should appeal to scholars and students of rhetorical studies Latinx studies and American studies

Theory Matters Martin Middeke, Christoph Reinhardt, 2016-07-09 This book demonstrates that theory in literary and cultural studies has moved beyond overarching master theories towards a greater awareness of particularity and contingency including its own What is the place of literary and cultural theory after the Age of Theory has ended Grouping its chapters into rubrics of metatheory cultural theory critical theory and textual theory the collection demonstrates that the practice of doing theory has neither lost its vitality nor can it be in any way dispensable Current directions covered include the renewed interest in phenomenology the increased acknowledgement of the importance of media history for all cultural practices and formations complexity studies new narratology literary ethics cultural ecology and an intensified interest in textual as well as cultural matter
