All Souls In My Time:

Raymond Carr María Jesús González Hernández, 2013 Published in collaboration with the Canada Blanch Centre for Contemporary Spanish Studies Forging a Discipline Christopher Hood, Desmond King, Gillian Peele, 2014-02-27 Forging a Discipline analyses the growth of the academic discipline of politics and international relations at Oxford University over the last hundred years This century marked the maturation and professionalization of social science disciplines such as political science economics and sociology in the world's leading universities The Oxford story of teaching and research in politics provides one case study of this transformation and the contributors aim to use its specifics better to understand this general process In their introductory and concluding chapters the Editors argue that Oxford is a critical case to consider because several aspects of the university and its organization seem at first glance to militate against disciplinary development and growth Oxford's institutional structure in which colleges enjoyed autonomy from the central university until quite recently its proximity to the practice of government and politics through the supply of a steady stream of senior administrators politicians and prime ministers and its emphasis on undergraduate teaching through intensive small group tutorials all distinguish the development of teaching and research on politics in the university from such competitors as Manchester or the LSE as explained in one of the contributions These themes inform the book's chapters in which the contributors examine the founding of the first dedicated position in political science in the university the study of the British Constitution and the development of electoral studies the introduction and consolidation of international relations into the Oxford social science curriculum in contrast to the way in which war studies emerged the commitment to research and teaching in political theory the careful harvesting of area studies particularly of Latin America and Eastern Europe including Russia and the distinctive role of Oxford's two social science graduate colleges Nuffield and St Antony's in fostering a graduate programme of study and research What emerges from these historically researched and analytical accounts is the surprising capacity of members of the politics discipline at Oxford to forge a leading place for their scholarly perspectives and research in such core parts of the discipline as political theory the study of comparative politics as a subject rather than as an area ideas about order in international relations and the scientific study of elections in Britain and comparatively That these achievements occurred in a university lacking the formal system of hierarchy and until the last decade departmentalization makes this volume a valuable addition to studies of the professionalization of social science research and teaching in modern universities

Looking for Mr. Nobody Jenny Rees, 2018-01-16 Goronwy Rees 1909-1979 was one of the most gifted and promising figures in the constellation of British poets journalists and intellectuals of the 1930s that included Louis MacNeice W H Auden C Day Lewis Isaiah Berlin and Anthony Blunt Like many liberals of his generation he was shocked by the effects of the Depression and correspondingly sympathetic to the Communist regime in Russia Guy Burgess of the Cambridge spies Burgess Maclean Philby and Blunt admitted his espionage to Rees His association with Burgess was to blight the rest of Rees

s life When Burgess defected in 1951 and Rees denounced him to MI5 Rees was viewed more as a spy out to save his own skin than as an honorable citizen His anonymous sensationalist articles in The People denouncing Burgess s political activities and all but naming names condemned him with the British intellectual community not for his politics but for his betrayal of a friend Colleagues and acquaintances accused him of trying to initiate a McCarthyite witch hunt He lost his job His academic career was ruined In Looking for Mr Nobody Jenny Rees deals with many of the old charges made against her father in her search for the answer to her own question Was he too a spy Had he joined up with Burgess and Blunt and passed secrets to the Soviet Union Her quest for the truth reveals a fascinating portrait of a brilliant but flawed man of letters handsome and seductively charming caught up in the radical political commitments of the 1930s Communist Party membership and his tortured relationship with the notorious Cambridge spies The Tory World Jeremy Black,2016-03-03 Political decisions are never taken in a vacuum but are shaped both by current events and historical context In other words long term developments and patterns in which the accumulated memory of what came earlier can greatly and sometimes subconsciously influence subsequent policy choices Working forward from the later seventeenth century this book explores the deep history of the changing and competing understandings within the Tory party of the role Britain has aspired to play on a world stage Conservatism has long been one of the major British political tendencies committed to the defence of established institutions with a strong sense of the national interest and embracing both liberal and authoritarian views of empire The Tory party has moreover at several times been deeply divided if not convulsed by different perspectives on Britain s international orientation and different positions on foreign and imperial policy Underlying Tory beliefs upon which views of Britain s global role were built were often not stated but assumed As a result they tend to be obscured from historical view This book seeks to recover and reconsider those beliefs and to understand how the Tory party has sought to navigate its way through the difficult pathways of foreign and imperial politics and why this determination outlasted Britain s rapid decolonisation and was apparently remarkably little affected by it With a supporting cast from Pitt to Disraeli Churchill to Thatcher the book provides a fascinating insight into the influence of history over politics Moreover it argues that there has been an inherent politicisation of the concept of national interests such that strategic culture and foreign policy cannot be understood other than in terms of a historically distorted political debate A Three Cornered Life Jim Davidson,2010 Australia 1930 remains one of the classic accounts of this country A Three Cornered Life is a superbly written and thorough biography of one of the finest twentieth century historians A Sea Symphony Ralph Vaughan Williams,Walt Whitman,1926 All Souls' Night John Kelly,1947 Unity ,1922 The Conservator ,1902 The Times Index ,1993 Indexes the Times Sunday times and magazine Times literary supplement Times educational supplement Times educational supplement Scotland and the Times higher education supplement Solanus ,2006 Harper's New Monthly Magazine ,1900 Harper s Magazine made its debut in June 1850 the brainchild of the prominent New York book publishing firm Harper
